

SAMPLE GREEN DOT CHALLENGE DAILY TASK

This is a great plan to roll out at the beginning of the year or for a particular standard. At the beginning of the week, each student should choose a standard that is either gray or pink from their progress report. This is the standard they will work with all week. The goal is for the dot to change color as students work toward achieving a green dot. If more than one standard is being covered, or you teach standard-heavy courses, combine 2 activities a day. Students could also choose a specific standard from a specific domain that will be the focus of the week's lessons.

Note: These can be done as class openers, lesson introductions, or exit slips.
